China Denies Reporter's War Story

CHICAGO (AP) — Leaders of Red China view the United States as traveling a path which will lead inevitably to war with their country, reporter Simon Malley says in the Chicago Daily News.

Malley, U.N. correspondent for the French language Jeune Afrique and other African newspapers, based his observations on exclusive interviews he said he had with Premier Chou En-lai in Peking.

Tuesday's story in the News was one of a series resulting from Malley's 19-day stay in China during March and April.

China has denied that Malley interviewed Chou, and has called the journalist's report a "fabrication."

Malley stuck by his assertion, and the News said it is "satisfied that Malley's report is authentic and accurate."

Hungarian Defects to the U.S.

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mystery surrounded the whereabouts today and motives of the highest-ranking Communist diplomat ever to defect in the United States.

State Department officials said Janos Radvanyi, Hungarian charge d'affaires who sought and promptly received refuge here, has asked that his decision be attributed to personal reasons.

But the State Department refused to go into any further detail at this time, including where he is or when he may give out his story.

In a brief, dramatic announcement Wednesday afternoon, Robert J. McCloskey, press officer, said Radvanyi, the top diplomat at the Hungarian Embassy here, told U.S. officials late Tuesday night that he wants to live in America permanently and is sending his government a letter of resignation.

The envoy, 45, thus became the first chief of a Communist diplomatic mission in Washington to defect. He had been slated for promotion to ambassador here.

"Our position will, of course, be in accord with the American tradition of extending refuge to those who seek it," McCloskey said.

Also granted asylum were Radvanyi's wife and their son, who has been attending a District of Columbia public high school. A married daughter lives in Hungary.

The Radvanyis' northwest Washington home was empty Wednesday and the family was presumed to be in a safe hideaway while undergoing questioning by federal officers. Telephone calls went unanswered at the Hungarian Embassy.

Informed sources suggested that besides any personal motives, Radvanyi had become fed up with Communist rule—like so many Hungarians before him—decided to flee to the West.

Large, dark-haired and amiable, Radvanyi had long been a Communist. Before World War II and while he was an industrial worker, he joined the party when it was illegal in Hungary.

After the Reds took over he joined the foreign service and rose in rank. He served in Ankara, Paris, Berne and Damascus, and was protocol chief in Budapest before coming to Washington five years ago.

Last November the United States and Hungary, in step with improving U.S. relations with Communist East Europe, agreed to raise the status of their respective diplomatic missions from legations to embassies.

President Johnson has yet to name an ambassador to Budapest, Radvanyi, who has been in charge here since February 1962, was known to have in his pocket since March an appointment from his government as ambassador to be presented once Johnson appointed the American ambassador.

Radvanyi's was the second spectacular Red defection to the West this year. Svetlana Alliluyeva, daughter of former Soviet dictator Josef Stalin, arrived in America last month after deciding in India against returning to her homeland.

Red Rioters Demonstrate in Hong Kong

By FORREST EDWARDS
HONG KONG (AP) — Pro-Communist demonstrators invaded Hong Kong Island today, marching on Government House throughout the day and plastering anti-British slogans on its gates and walls. But there were no clashes between the noisy crowds and the police.

Peking Radio said Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and some 100,000 Chinese massed at a gymnasium in the Chinese capital to denounce "British imperialism and suppression of Chinese patriots in Hong Kong."

The broadcast said the crowd repeatedly shouted, "Down with U.S. imperialism!" "Down with Soviet revisionism!" and "Down with British imperialism!"

Demonstrators also paraded past the British Legation in Peking, as they had done for three days previously.

In the Portuguese colony of Macao, 40 miles from Hong Kong, 300 pro-Communist Chinese demonstrated in front of the British Consulate. Consul Norman Ions received them in small groups and listened without comment to their claims of police brutality in Hong Kong.

The demonstrators marched on Hong Kong's Government House in relays. One crowd roared up in 40 buses, trucks and taxicabs and stayed 30 minutes.

Workers Are Winning More Raises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Workers are winning bigger raises than a year ago despite the first drop in real economic output since 1961 and a big sag in corporate profits, government figures show.

The Commerce Department said Wednesday night that revised figures show the increase in Gross National Product for the first quarter of the year was more than offset by rising prices.

Earlier figures had shown the increase was exactly offset by rising prices. But figures updated at midsummer could again alter the first-quarter picture, said one source.

Gross National Product—the value of all goods and services produced in the economy—rose by $4.4 billion during the first quarter to an annual rate of $763.7 billion. Taking rising prices into consideration, however, it declined by about one-tenth of one per cent from the fourth-quarter 1966 level.

The Labor Department said 917,000 workers for whom new contracts have been negotiated in the first quarter won average 5 per cent wage boosts. Such increases averaged 3.9 per cent a year ago.

The median raise was 14.5 cent an hour, indicating the middleground wage for workers covered went from about $2.90 to $3.04 an hour.

The Commerce Department also said corporate profits during the first quarter dropped to $77.3 billion before taxes, at an annual rate. Down $4.5 billion, this was the steepest quarterly drop since the third quarter of 1959.

Hit by Truck, Man Killed

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — William C. Dillon, 55, of Mayflower, was killed Wednesday when his state Highway Department vehicle was struck from behind on U. S. 67-167 in Jacksonville.

State Police said a tractor-trailer truck driven by Arthur D. Woodson of Houston, Tex., struck Dillon's vehicle from the rear. Jacksonville Police charged him with involuntary manslaughter.

Officers said Dillon's vehicle wound up on its roof, after traveling 136 feet, end-over-end. Alvis Wheeler of North Little Rock, a passenger in the Dillon vehicle, was listed in serious condition at a Jacksonville hospital.

Rain Gives Some Relief to Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — South Florida has received torrents of rain after a two-month drought that has killed animals and greenery and led to the burning of more than 100,000 acres of forest.

The dried Everglades National Park, South Miami and Coral Gables got more than four inches of rain Wednesday. Fort Lauderdale, Key West, Pompano Beach, West Palm Beach and Fort Myers all drew measurable amounts though less than one inch.

"I think you can say that the drought is over," said U.S. weather forecaster Joe Pellissier. "We shouldn't go back to a dry pattern but it will probably be clear for a day or so. We should be getting some more rain sometime next week."

While fire watchers took their first rest in weeks, emergency electric crews rushed to restore power in sections blacked out by the storm. Phone companies patched storm-tossed lines and police began untangling dozens of accidents caused by slippery streets.

Conway Taking In Four Grades

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The Conway Board of Education said Wednesday at previously all-white Conway High School will absorb the top four grades, at all-Negro Pine Street High School.

The board said the move would take place this fall.

School Supt. H. L. Stanfill said the action would save the district $20,000 to $25,000 in salaries alone.

Conway High School has an enrollment of 573 students while 430 students are in grades nine through 12 at Pine Street High School.

Walks Away From Prison

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Bobby Gene Thompson, 18, an inmate at Tucker Prison Farm, apparently walked away from the prison Wednesday afternoon authorities said.

A prison official said Thompson was sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery from Madison County.

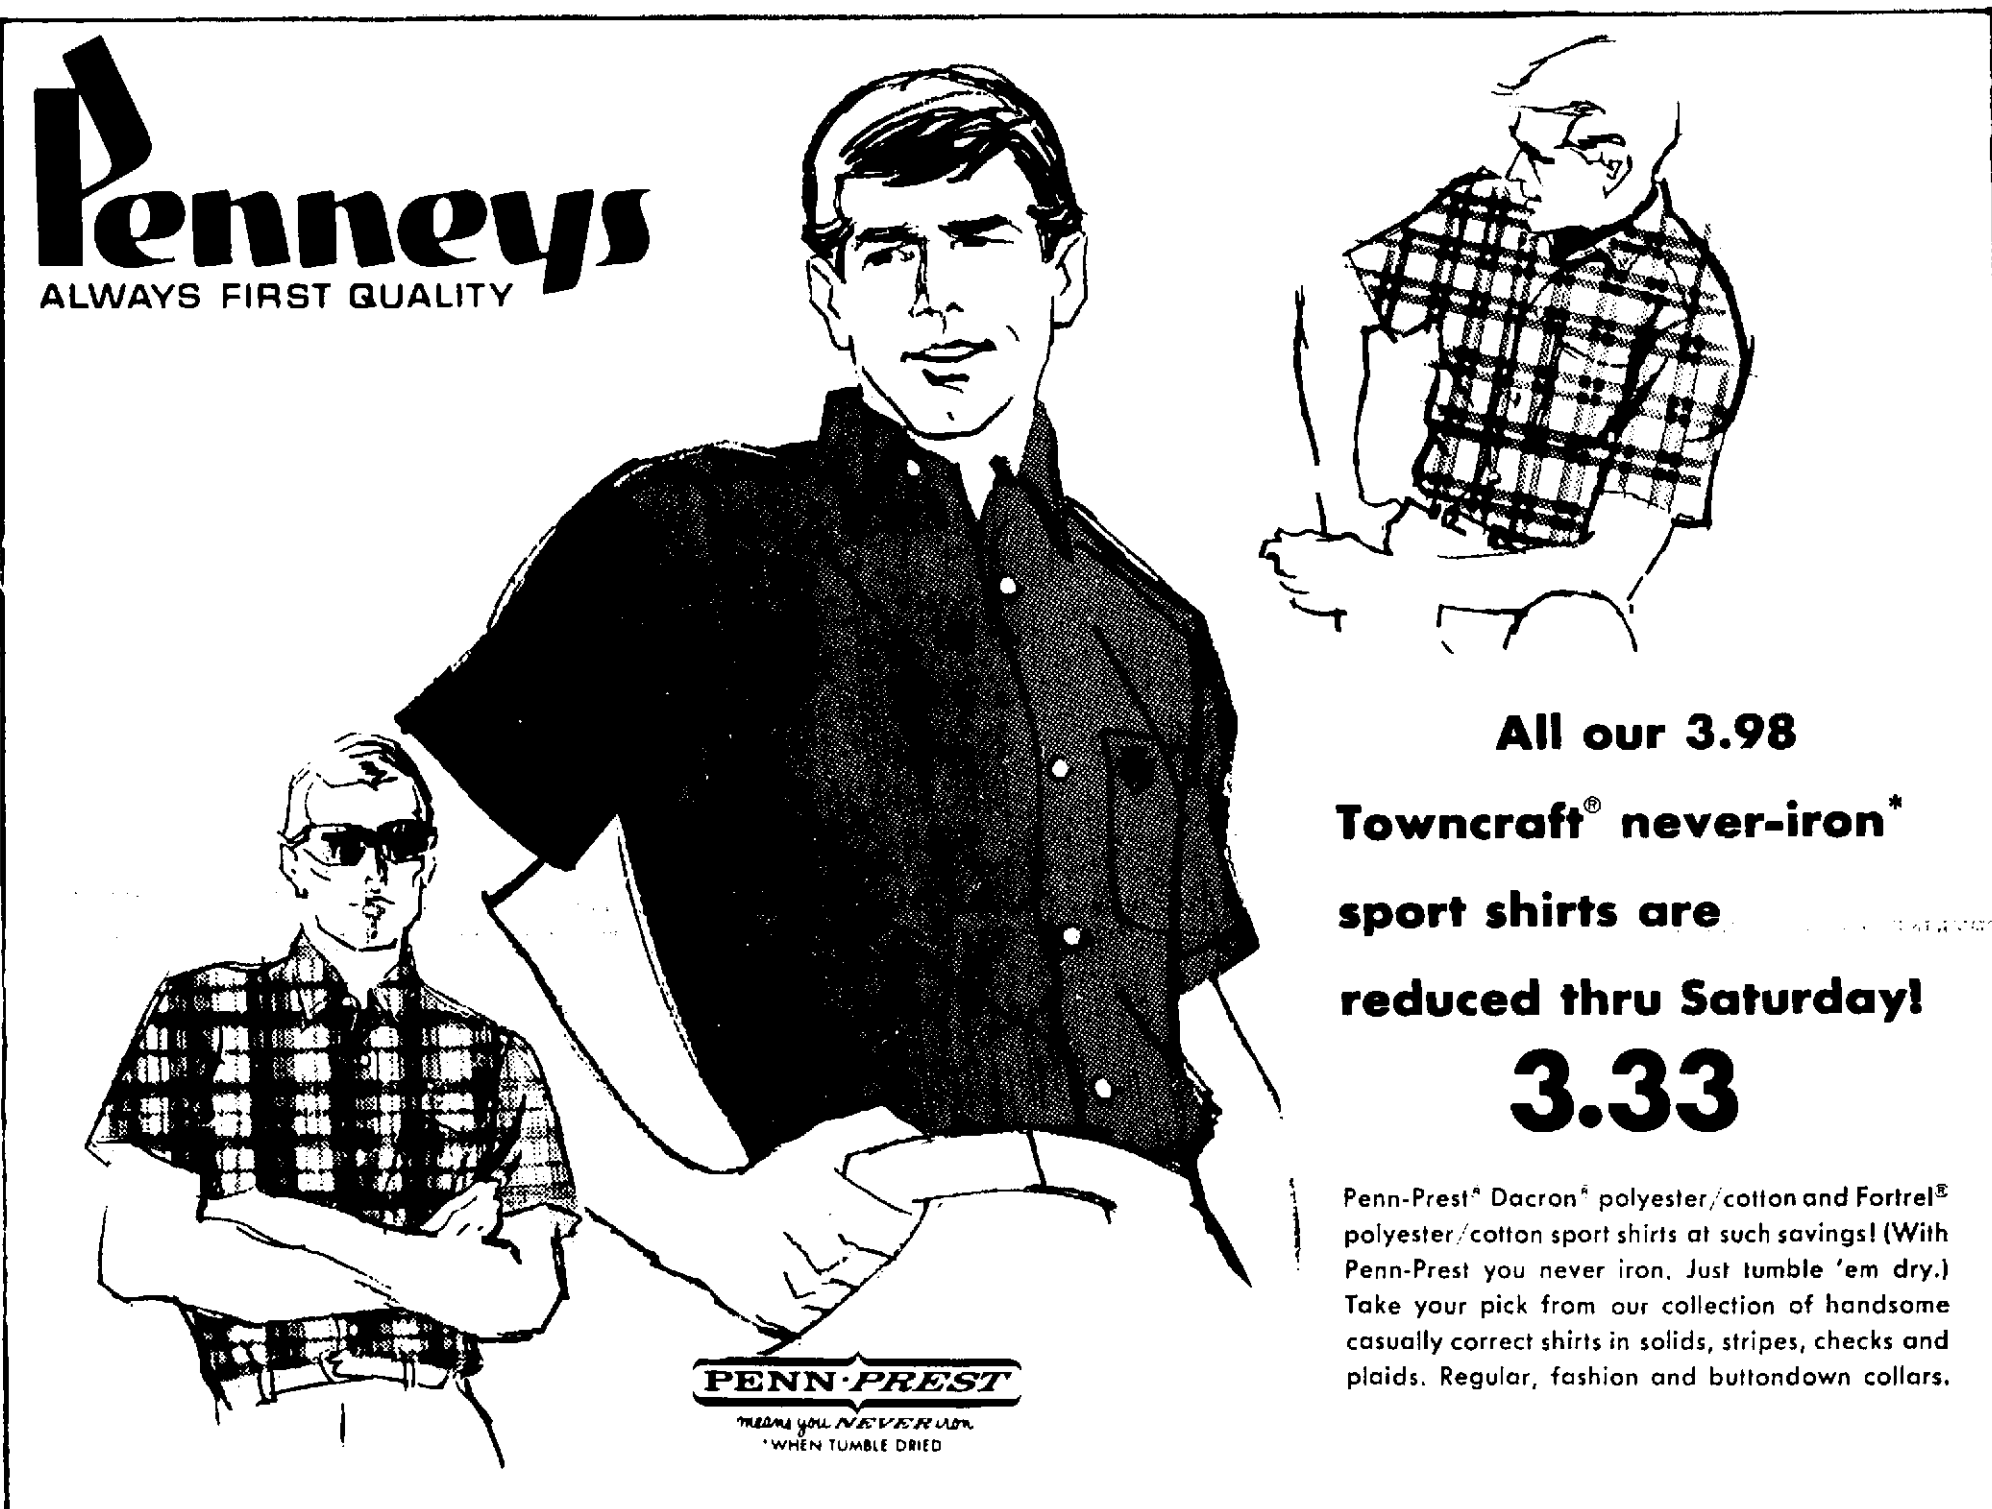

Thompson is the fourth inmate to escape from the state's prisons since Sunday.

Television and Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Paar turned a curious jumble of jokes, gags, blow-ups and guest stars — plus the casual atmosphere of his old late-evening show, into a highly diverting hour on NBC Sunday night.

Only Paar, with his own individual approach, could have made it work so smoothly since there was almost no shape or form to the show.

Titled "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to Hollywood," Paar opened the show with a string of wisecracks — "Hollywood, a drive-in Sodom and Gomorrah." "Even those palm trees are fakes — telephone poles with wigs." "A fine place to visit and a fine place to die — I've called Forest Lawn a Disneyland for shut-ins."

He brought on Bob Newhart, hardly a Hollywood fixture, for a repeat of his great sketch about the new night guard reporting in the night King Kong climbed the Empire State Building.

There was no need for the usual expensive dance numbers. Paar used film clips from 30-year-old movies instead. One of Busby Berkeley's hideously elaborate production numbers of the 1930s was matched with recordings of "Down Town" and "Winchester Cathedral" and worked out nicely.

There was a batch of scenes from old movies showing James Cagney belting people around, a piece of salvaged film shot when the late W. C. Fields was surprised in mid-scene by a mild earthquake and then a faked interview with Paar asking questions that matched "answers" by Ronald Reagan, clipped from the former actor's very old movies.

Judy Garland came out for a wandering conversation that sounded as if she and Paar were picking up threads from a talk that started the previous night. It was funny stuff.

The best was almost the last — a series of "blooper" saved from the cutting room floor. There was the dramatic scene spoiled when a cigarette lighter failed, another scene ruined when a workman walked across the "sky" behind a pilot in a plane worrying about his shortage of gasoline.

It was just a lot of odds and ends pulled together, and it was just fine.

Another delightful period Sunday was NBC's "Childrens Theatre" special. The Boston Pops Orchestra played "Carnival of Animals" while Hugh Downs read Ogden Nash's amusing verses.

75 Cows Buys a Girl in Uganda

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — In the barren Karamojong district of northern Uganda, the price of a girl is 75 cows.

There has been a long drought and cattle are scarce, so the men of the Karamojong tribe have taken to raiding neighbors' herds to get together the cows they need to buy a wife.

The raids have created a major security problem for Uganda's president, Milton Obote. More than 1,000 police and special security forces equipped with helicopters are trying to maintain order in Karamojong and stop the bloody feuds over cattle between rival clans of the Karamojong and with neighboring tribes in Kenya and Sudan.

Karamojong was never brought fully under control during the period of British rule, ending in 1962. The desolate area 200 miles northeast of Kampala covers more than 10,000 square miles but has only 130,000 inhabitants. They are a withdrawn, nomadic people who resisted the civilizing efforts of missionaries and the British administration for decades.

To this day, the men of the Karamojong take a special pride in wearing absolutely no clothes, not even a loin cloth. The women wear a small leather patch.

By tradition, a boy has to prove his manhood by killing a lion, a leopard, elephant—or an enemy. The enemy usually is the easiest to get. But the killer's relatives have to pay "blood money" by surrendering one of their girls—or the equivalent in cows—to the victim's family.

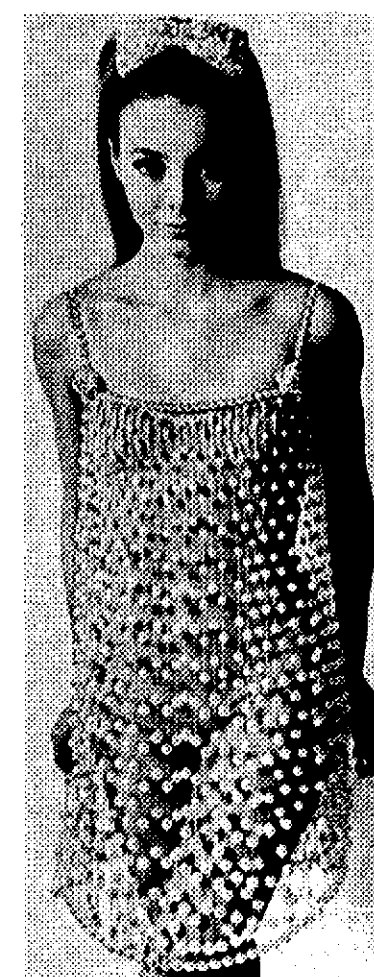

Modern Uganda politicians tend to blame the British for having allowed the tribe to retain such customs.

Interior Minister Basil Bataringaya told the Uganda Parliament recently the Karamojong were never pacified because the former colonial regime deliberately "created a kind of human zoo in the area."

Karamojong raise cattle as a status symbol and never slaughter their cows—though they drink the cows' milk and blood. They live on corn, wild plants and a pink milkshake made with raw, fresh blood tapped from a cow's veins.

The drought has created near-famine conditions and has led to bloody tribal battles in which many have died. As the Karamojong are more primitive than neighboring tribes, they often get the worst of intertribal fighting.

In March, a Karamojong raiding party crossed into Kenya, killed 18 men of the Turkana tribe and made off with 200 camels.

Unlike the Karamojong, the Turkana have firearms. They crossed the border into Uganda for a reprisal raid that killed many more than the original attack.

No one knows how many have died in fighting over cattle between different clans of the Karamojong. One problem faced by security forces in suppressing cattle raiding is that stolen cows can rarely be identified. The Karamojong don't brand.

To prevent international incidents, some Uganda officials envisage the creation of a broad no-man's land along the border where anyone found roaming would be considered an outlaw.

There is no easy solution to the problem.

Uganda's minister of works and housing, S. K. E. Okurut, himself of Karamojong origin, summed up his people's problem in a parliamentary speech. "They have to learn that cattle is not everything," he said. "They have to learn that a man can be of high social standing without even a calf to his name. They must learn that we have better doctors than their medicine men."

"They have to know other ways than raiding cattle and better ways of being a hero. And they have to learn that a man can win a girl without having to resort to stealing and killing a fellow human being."

Big Names Entered in Colonial

By MIKE COCHRAN
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The top names intact, the $115,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament opens today, signaling the official end of Deane Beman's amateur golf reign.

Beman, 29, currently America's finest amateur, scheduled his professional debut over the 7,132-yard, Colonial Country Club course.

The tournament also marked the renewal of the friendly rivalry between Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, runner-up last week at New Orleans.

The presence of Ben Hogan, 54, attracted an unusual amount of attention, due to impressive showing at the Masters and the Houston Champions. He seeks his sixth Colonial championship.

Frank Beard, the current sensation, and George Knudson, most recent tour champion, were also in the field, but the day was special only to Beman.

The slight, crew-cut ex-University of Maryland player, stepped into the pro ranks after a decade of amateur successes that included two national and one British Amateur title.

He succeeded Nicklaus as the outstanding U.S. amateur, actually compiling a more impressive list of titles than his predecessor, now a millionaire.

An insurance executive, Beman decided the time was ripe to make the move.

"From a practical standpoint, I really believe if I didn't go in now, I never would. It is something I really wanted to do."

The transition from amateur to professional competition, he said, will probably be a smooth one, perhaps because he has played in 11 open and nine Masters tournaments.

"I might be wrong," he said. "But I don't think my attitude will change at all. I've always worked pretty hard and wanted to win just as bad."

He is limited by the PGA tournament committee to playing in three tournaments until he completes a two-weeks PGA training school next fall. He plans then to move onto the tour in dead seriousness.

"I wouldn't do it any other way," he said. "I couldn't do it half-way."

Jim Taylor Spending Days Hunting

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Fullback Jimmy Taylor says he's spending his days "hunting, fishing and thinking things out" in his contract tug-of-war with Coach Vince Lombardi and the Green Bay Packers.

The veteran packer, who became a free agent May 1 after playing out his option with the professional football league champions, says he's slowly reaching a decision.

"I've been trying to evaluate everything and weigh all the facts," he said. "I should make a decision within a week. Things are coming to a head."

Taylor didn't give many hints about the likely nature of his decision, which some believe will be acceptance of a rich contract from the New Orleans Saints, the newest member of the National Football League.

But, he said, he didn't believe he'd be back at Green Bay where he has played for the past nine seasons.

"At least, that's the way I feel right now," he said.

40 YEARS OF TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHTS

Alone in a monoplane named the Spirit of St. Louis, a young U.S. air mail pilot took off from Roosevelt Field on Long Island at 7:52 a.m., May 20, 1927. Thirty-three hours and 29 minutes later, Charles Lindbergh landed at Paris' Le Bourget airport. While the feat still ranks as one of the greatest events of the century, a lot has happened in transatlantic air travel in the 40 years since the Lone Eagle's flight. Today's huge jets, carrying up to 150 passengers, have cut the time between New York's John F. Kennedy International and Paris' Orly to seven hours. The supersonic transports coming soon will cut that time in half.

Hiroshima Horror Film Disclosed

By SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has suppressed for nearly 22 years confiscated Japanese films showing ghastly after-effects of the 1945 atomic bombing of Hiroshima, U.S. officials revealed today.

The Japanese government has asked at least twice that restrictions on the film be lifted, but the U.S. government has refused on grounds it might damage U.S.-Japanese relations, said the informants.

Called in Japan "The Film of Illusion" because it wasn't supposed to exist, the film was taken by Tokyo University scientists rushed to Hiroshima soon after the bombing, the sources said.

The officials, who declined identification, said the Japanese scientists still were at work filming in the devastated city when U.S. officials arrived in Hiroshima and confiscated the film.

But the American authorities determined to finish the documentary and used the same Japanese professional cameramen who had taken the initial footage.

For many years, officials said, U.S. policy flatly opposed any distribution of the documentary because it showed in stark and gruesome detail blast effects and the bomb's impact in a densely populated area.

But some authorities reportedly now favor letting Japan decide what if any restrictions should be imposed on the film's showing.

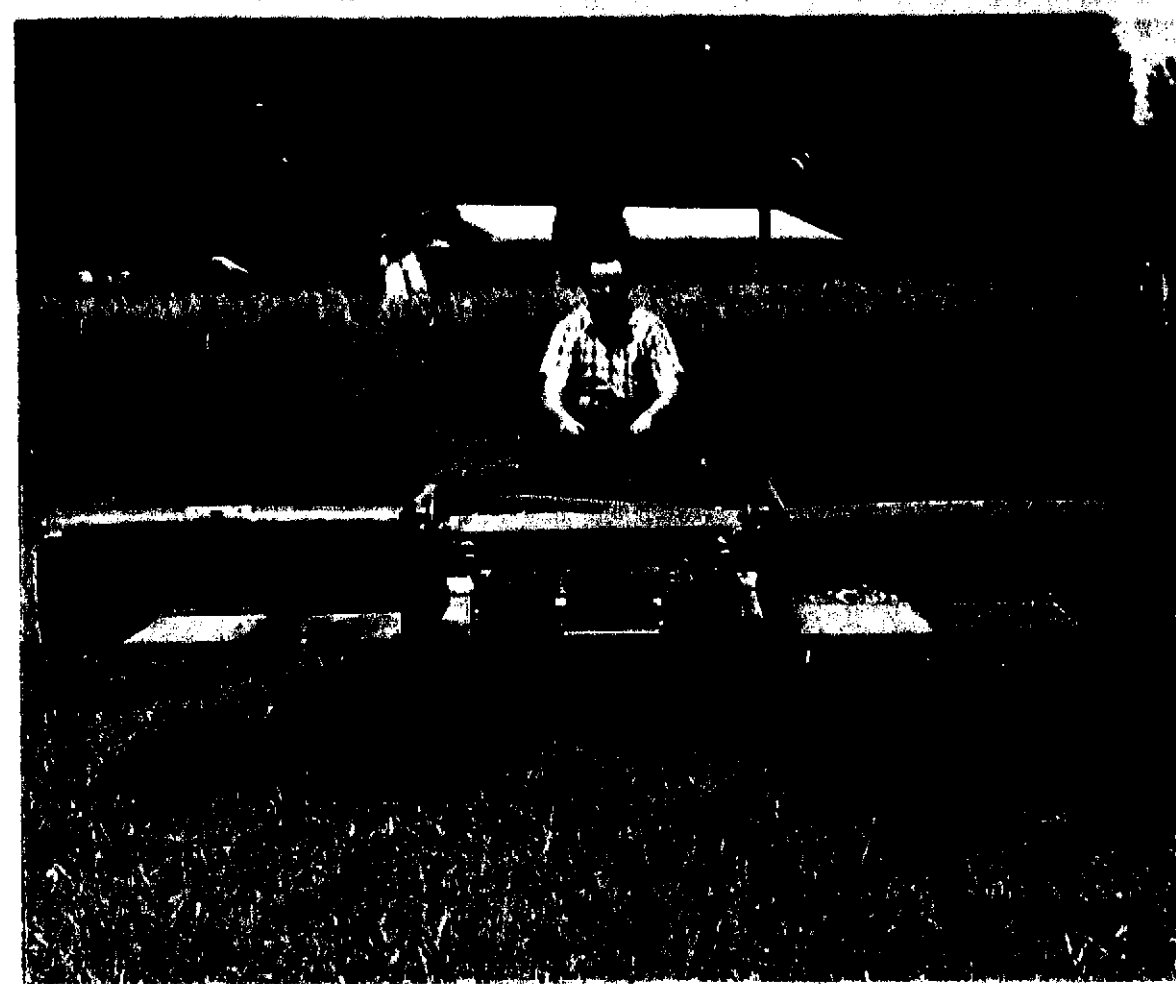

This appeared to leave the door open for reconsideration if Japan should renew its request for the documentary.

Hiroshima was the target of the first atomic bomb ever dropped on an enemy—on Aug. 6, 1945. The bomb obliterated three-fifths of the city of 343,000 population.

The U.S. government has estimated the bomb's death toll at between 70,000 and 80,000 people. It set the bomb's mortality rate per square mile at 15,000 people, with 32,000 wounded per square mile.

Welfare Aid to Nursing Homes Hiked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Welfare Commissioner Len Blaylock said Monday nursing homes in Arkansas would receive an average monthly increase of $20 for each welfare client being cared for.

He said the increase would be retroactive to either April 5 or Feb. 1. Blaylock said he had polled the nine-member state Welfare Board and seven of the members were in favor of the increase.

Blaylock said the increase would not be a flat $20 per client. He said the figure would be based on the client's income as figured for welfare grant eligibility.

First to be Regained

The first American soil to be regained by the United States after seizure by the Japanese in World War II was Attu Island in the Aleutians.

A new piece of equipment for removal of litter from chicken houses has been designed and manufactured by C. & S. Manufacturing Company on West Avenue B in Hope. Realizing the need for such equipment the engineering staff of the plant have built a working model that has received much praise from local poultry people who have seen it in operation. They now have some orders for some of these machines and are busily engaged in the production of them.

"Once we get several of these machines in operation we feel that we will be kept pretty busy manufacturing them," said Mr. Ansley Gilbert, one of the owners of the plant.

SHORT FOR SHOW BIZ

NEW YORK (AP)—For just as long as he's short, Stuart Getz can perform in Broadway's musical "Mame."

The 12-year-old actor recently entered the cast to enact the heroine's juvenile nephew. His contract stipulates that Stuart, who is 54 inches tall, may be replaced when he grows beyond 59 inches. After that, says his mother, he is going to study to be a veterinarian.

world war.

Rusk, whose previous judgment on Chinese intentions in Korea was questioned by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, had been scheduled for an appearance today at a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to review the Vietnam issue.

The secretary canceled out to attend two sessions of congressional leaders and committee members for discussion of the windup of the Kennedy Round of European trade talks.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., indicated the committee will want to hear from Rusk later but had no idea when that will be.

Court Martial Could Be the U.S. on Trial

By AL LANIER

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The court-martial of Army Capt. Howard B. Levy on disloyalty charges may in effect turn into a trial of the United States on charges of committing war crimes in Vietnam.

Col. Earl V. Brown, law officer at the Levy court-martial, has ruled that defense attorneys may try to show that U.S. Army Special Forces troops operate under a policy of liquidating South Vietnamese natives whom they cannot "cure" politically.

Levy, 30, an Army doctor from Brooklyn, N.Y., is accused of disobeying an order to teach medical skills to Green Beret medics and with making disloyal statements to the effect that Special Forces troops are "peasant killers and murderers of women and children."

The defense says that under decisions rendered in the Nuernberg trials of German war criminals following World War II, Levy had a legal right to disobey what it calls an unlawful order of his superior officers.

More Russian Satellites Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union put up two more unmanned satellites Wednesday, Cosmos 159 in a cigar-shaped orbit ranging from 236 to 37,655 miles above the earth and Cosmos 160 into a conventional orbit from 88 to 127 miles up.

The announcement said Cosmos 159 had an angle of 51 degrees, 50 minutes to the equator. This is approximately the route followed by Soviet Sputniks in the first stages of orbital launches to the moon, and there was speculation that 159 was a test of a type of "parking orbit" to be used in future moon launches.

U.S. May Put War Up to the U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield proposes placing the Vietnam war squarely before the United Nations—an idea he says U.N. Secretary-General U Thant scotched last year.

Mansfield said Monday in a Senate speech that when he first proposed asking the U.N. Security Council to take up the war issue—in a Nov. 11, 1966, speech in Baltimore—he won backing from President Johnson.

He said Johnson phoned him after the speech and urged him to discuss the matter with Thant and Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Mansfield said Thant opposed the proposal, saying he would prefer to pursue peace talks privately rather than having Vietnam taken either to the Security Council or the U.N. General Assembly.

Mansfield later told The Associated Press he had not previously discussed publicly the President's request and Thant's response.

"I think the secretary-general has had his chance," Mansfield told his colleagues Monday. "He has done everything he can. It is now time to place the matter formally before the Security Council."

"In view of this background, I would think the President might look on this proposal with favor."

Mansfield's proposal, and a call by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., for restrictions on U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, came in the wake of Thant's forecast last week that the Southeast Asian conflict could explode into World War III.

Cooper urged restricting of bombing to infiltration routes near the demilitarized zone dividing the two Vietnams.

He said if such a limitation on air strikes brought any affirmative response from Hanoi, all bombing should be suspended in an effort to get talks started.

Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, predicted Monday that U.S. military involvement in peace, he can't be sure Red China won't use that as an excuse to move in. If he ignores the senators, he will give American critics of the war less reason to be critical.

But when Ho heard Red China denied ever giving Malley any interviews at all, he must have asked himself: Who's kidding whom?

like.

This confronts Ho with a goulash thought that, if he ever reaches the point where he wishes to quit, he may suddenly find his country turned into a battlefield he didn't want or couldn't imagine.

He remembers what happened in North Korea—since the same could happen in North Vietnam—when the Red Chinese sent their "volunteers" into that war to fight the Americans.

The fighting was limited to North Korea. The United States neither attacked nor bombed Red China itself.

The Chinese employ a thin fiction when they say "volunteers"—instead of calling them regular troops—cross a border to fight a war. They can argue they are not formally at war and thus try to make an attack on them look outrageous.

"Volunteers" or not, if China got into the war the United States would have another reason for limiting the war to North Vietnam instead of attacking China. If it attacked China, Moscow might feel compelled to go to China's aid.

But 16 U.S. senators Wednesday may have disillusioned Ho if he clings to the belief dissonance about the war in this country may undermine the American determination to fight it.

Earlier this month Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam, complained antiwar criticism and demonstrations here encouraged Ho to keep on fighting in the belief the American will weaken.

Perhaps Ho will interpret what the senators did as an effort to show they do not want to be identified with anything that might undercut the U.S. war effort.

Making public a statement which they didn't send Ho but hoped he would read, they called on him to be reasonable and start talking peace.

They acknowledged they had been critical of the war but made plain they did not see eye to eye with him in his demands that U.S. forces must pull out before there is peace. If that happened, Ho would have all Vietnam to himself.

They said they wanted him to know the United States was determined not to pull out. But if Ho listens to them and seeks U.S. military involvement in peace, he can't be sure Red China won't use that as an excuse to move in. If he ignores the senators, he will give American critics of the war less reason to be critical.

But when Ho heard Red China denied ever giving Malley any interviews at all, he must have asked himself: Who's kidding whom?

whom?

Policemen and Terrorists Killed

MANILA (AP) — Four Philippine policemen and three Communist Huk terrorists were killed today after the Huks opened fire on a patrol that was searching for them in a Batangas village, constabulary headquarters said.
A spokesman said the deaths toll was the biggest this year in clashes between Huks and government patrols.

The Philippine Senate Committee on National Defense and Security reported last week that the Huks now command "the obedience of considerable numbers" in central Luzon, the Philippines' main island. Batangas, a province, is in southern Luzon.

She is majoring in secretarial science.

Appointment of Officials Suggested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Executive Branch Committee of the state Constitutional Revision Study Commission suggested Wednesday the Commission seriously consider allowing the governor appoint constitutional officers, instead of the officials being elected.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller has endorsed the idea. The system would be comparable to the cabinet system employed by the federal government.

The committee's report also recommended that the governor's term be extended from two years to four and that more than a simple majority be required before the legislature can override a veto.

The report called the need for constitutional status for an office such as state land commissioner "highly questionable."

"In accordance with suggestion from witnesses, the Committee recommends further serious consideration be given to a cabinet system," the report said.

Three governors have testified before the Committee, according to the report, and all agreed the governor's term should be extended. The witnesses maintained two years is barely time to become acquainted with the duties of the office.

The report suggested the legislature be empowered to call a special session and that the Commission consider increasing the duties of the office of lieutenant governor.

The Committee did not express an opinion on several proposals including one which create a board to oversee some 180 existing boards and commission and one which change the status of the state Highway Commission.

The full Commission meets Saturday at Little Rock.

Communist Named to Parliament

BELGRADE (AP) — The Yugoslav Parliament today elected Mika Spiljak, a prominent Communist party official, as premier for a four-year term under a routine rotation system.

Spiljak, 53, who fought with President Tito's partisans against the Nazi occupation army in World War II, is a member of the ruling presidium of the Yugoslav Communist party.

LBJ Seeking More Asian Participation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has told some senators the United States is bringing maximum pressure on its allies to broaden Asian participation in the Vietnam war.

But thus far, administration officials have indicated in private briefings, they are having little success in convincing the countries which have associated themselves with the war to furnish more combat troops.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., who has been critical of what he calls Americanization of the conflict, has pounded away on the theme that unless more Asians take part in the Vietnam fighting and pacification program it may turn into a white man vs. yellow man struggle.

He said in an interview he thinks that if substantially more Asian troops could be enlisted it would help convince the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong they are fighting a losing battle against not only Americans but also their neighbors.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., a supporter of President Johnson's over-all war policies, told the Senate Wednesday that for all practical purposes the fighting is being done by Americans, South Vietnamese and 47,000 South Koreans.

Noting Australia has sent about 7,000 men, New Zealand a token force and The Philippines 4,000, he added: "But with respect to combat troops, only the United States and Korea are involved in the fighting."

Percy said he declined to join 16 other Senate critics of Johnson's policies in a statement saying they would oppose unilateral U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam "because I have been saying that over and over again and I saw no point in repeating it."

The 16 made clear they felt the declaration had removed what one, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., called "the chief inhibition to dissent — the charge that our dissent might be misinterpreted in Hanoi."

That viewpoint had been stressed last month in a New York speech by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

"It has relieved the haunting anxiety about dissent that should enable us to discuss this issue more freely," McGovern said.

President Johnson made no public comment on the message, but it drew praise Wednesday night from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Talking to newsmen at a White House reception for 1,000 military officers, Humphrey said of the statement: "I liked it. Good."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, draftsman of the statement, said it underlined the importance its signers attached to continuing opposition to a wider war.

"I have every anticipation that we will continue to exercise our right to oppose any new moves in connection with the war in Vietnam that we regard as inimical to the best interests of the country," he said.

The statement noted widespread misgivings in the United States about the war, but said a majority of Americans backed the war effort.

Spring Fever
White River
Color Tomorrow

I am a big-bird watcher, and it's fully as amusing as the business of chasing small birds with a pair of binoculars. You don't need binoculars to watch an 18-pound Canada Goose.

My mated pair in the "back 40" on S. Walnut St. are five years old, and ordinarily they are models of politeness—seemingly an ever-loving couple. But not in the gusty days of Springtime.

I have difficulty telling the gander from the hen. The clue lies in the way he twists his neck and head. At this season you can't possibly mistake him for "Mrs."

The male Honker elevates his neck and whips his head forward and backward. At the end of the forward thrust he utters his Autumn cry, just the way a javeline-thrower hurls his spear. Mrs. Canada mutters something—and her model husband all of a sudden and completely without visible reason jerks one of her tail feathers.

It's Spring . . . It must be.

Tomorrow The Star will publish its first 35mm. Kodachrome four-color production—the story of the White River float trip. L. Carter Johnson and your editor made from Cotter to Buffalo City in August 1965. We ran the black-and-white pictures the fall of 1965—but now you'll see the Kodachromes we couldn't print then but which are made possible today by our Berkeley color separator and Fairchild rotary offset color press.

There are six pictures in a seven-column layout, dominating a newspaper page. Behind it we have another 35mm. Kodachrome production ready for the press, to be published next week.

This latter picture shows the main body of Lake Norfork from the overlook on U. S. 62 about 12 miles east of Mountain Home, taken while we were returning from the 1965 float trip.

The Norfork picture is significant because it shows the great range of the Berkeley enlarger—blowing up a 35mm. color "frame," an inch by an inch and a half, to an 8-column plate 15 1/4 inches wide. Actually the machine will enlarge it half again as big.

But you run into trouble with giant enlargements in color. Even the 1,350-watt sealed tube arc isn't enough "horsepower" to handle so tedious a job without multiplying the automatic exposure. It took five exposures on each of the four negatives to produce the final set of publication films.

Nevertheless we have proved our point—that 35mm. color is acceptable for publication. Heretofore we have been using 4x5 Ektachromes, easier to handle because of the smaller enlargement that is required. But your editor has a library of 5,000 35mm. Kodachromes from all over America—and he had to tap this supply. He has,

Tulip Festival Is Underway

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP) — Gov. George Romney helped kick off the 38th annual Tulip Time Festival with a pair of wooden shoes.

Romney, a potential Republican presidential nominee, and his wife, Lenore, donned Dutch costumes and the wooden shoes for the festivities Wednesday.

Then they joined hundreds of similarly garbed townsfolk to sweep down the streets of this community which was settled by immigrants from the Netherlands.

Get Tough Policy at T. Southern

By B.F. KELLUM
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Texas Southern University administrators invoked a "get tough" policy and calm prevailed on campus today after rioting broke out in which a policeman was fatally shot and four other persons were wounded.

Of the 488 students arrested during the four-hour conflict early Wednesday, five were charged with rioting and their bonds fixed at $10,000 each. Conviction on the felony charge carries a penalty of four to 40 years in prison.

Most of the others taken into custody were released late in the day. Authorities said other complaints may be filed.

Patrolmen in unmarked cars cruised the campus today without incident. Other officers stayed at a command post nearby.

About 100 policemen stormed into dormitories at the predominantly Negro state school, largely of its kind in Texas, to reach snipers firing on them early Wednesday. Officers estimated more than 3,000 shots were exchanged.

Sheriff's officers said 16 students were treated at the county jail for minor injuries, mostly cuts and bruises.

Lewis R. Kuba, 24, a rookie patrolman, died about seven hours after he was shot between the eyes as he and fellow officers advanced on a dormitory from which students were shooting and tossing crude fire bombs.

$100 Million Worth of Equipment Is Not Needed in War Effort

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigator said today there's about $100-million worth of U.S. construction equipment now in Vietnam not needed for the American war effort.

And Joseph Lippman, just back from Vietnam, said there are untold quantities of surplus construction materials in the war zone.

A Government Operations subcommittee headed by Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, is planning hearings on the surplus property situation in Vietnam.

Lippman said in an interview the surplus resulted in part from construction management shortcomings reported by the General Accounting Office on Wednesday.

The GAO tempered its criticism by saying: "Waste and inefficiency could not be completely eliminated in a construction program of this magnitude under the conditions existing in Vietnam."

"We want to know what's going to happen to this equipment," said Lippman, chief investigator for the Senate subcommittee.

He said material in Vietnam not needed by the military should be turned over to the Agency for International Development.

Workers Eligible for Benefits

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Employees Retirement Board declared 24 public employees, including Pink Booher of Altheimer, eligible Wednesday for retirement benefits.

Booher, 56, was in charge of Tucker Prison for several months last year. He was granted disability retirement. J. L. Shaver of Wynne, lieutenant of the campus today after rioting broke out in which a policeman was fatally shot and four other persons were wounded.

Three Boys Still Missing in Missouri

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — With clues to the whereabouts of three missing boys in Hannibal exhausted and hope for their safe return almost nonexistent, weary searchers have virtually discontinued their efforts.

A final effort to find Billy Hoag, 11, Joey Hoag, 13, and Craig Dowell, 14, proved fruitless when a massive power shovel stripped tons of earth and stone from the road bed of U.S. 79 with no results.

Mayor Harry Musgrave admitted after the excavation, "We'll have to announce that all leads have been exhausted."

Rescue workers from all over the nation poured through the virtually infinite caverns and passages beneath the Midwest town, hoping to find the boys, missing since the evening of May 10.

The youths were seen entering Murphy's Cave. Another report had them spotted in an area known as "Lover's Leap." Throughout the search there was speculation that the boys might have entered some hole later covered up by construction work on the highway.

coment for its programs there. The GAO criticized the management of construction programs in Vietnam during a massive expansion stemming from the buildup of U.S. forces there. Its report accused the Navy and an American construction combine of management shortcomings, and said: "As a result, the cost of the program was increased to a considerable extent, although there is no way to reliably measure the extra cost sustained."

The GAO said the combined American construction program in Vietnam totaled $1.3 billion on Oct. 1.

The U.S. construction combine, called RMK-BRJ, had contracts for about three-quarters of that work. Member firms of the combine, headquartered in Saigon, include Raymond International of Delaware, Inc., Morris-Knudsen of Asia, Inc., Brown & Root, Inc., and J. A. Jones Construction Co.

The combine replied to the GAO criticism, saying war and time pressures did not allow normal planning and construction. "A runway for an operational aircraft was much more vital to the war effort than a well-managed warehouse complete with tidy paperwork," the contractor said.

Israeli to Counter Egypt Troops

By HAL MCCLURE
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Israeli army announced today that it has taken "suitable steps" to counter the movement of Egyptian troops into the Sinai Desert on Israel's southern border.

An Israeli army spokesman announced: "Following the move of considerable Egyptian army forces into the Sinai Peninsula, which has increased tension in the area, the Israeli army has taken suitable steps."

The spokesman did not elaborate, and no further information was immediately available. But it was assumed that Israeli forces had reinforced the southern frontier.

Israelis in general remained calm as Syria and the United Arab Republic moved troops up to the borders in preparation for the Israeli attack they claim is coming.

"Why should we get excited?" asked one Israeli taxi driver. "It has happened dozens of times."

1,000 New Jobs Are Created

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Carl C. Hinkle Jr., said Wednesday over 1,000 new jobs were created in Arkansas in April through the location of new industries and the expansion of others.

Hinkle is the executive director of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission. Hinkle said five plants located in the state during the month and 11 others had expanded.

Roadblocks Face Draft Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee is erecting new roadblocks to draft system reforms proposed by President Johnson.

The committee still considering proposed extension of the draft law for four years-decked Wednesday against letting the President have the final say over college deferments.

The panel wrote into the proposed law deferments for college undergraduates in good academic standing until they at least receive a degree. Left up to Johnson, however, was the status of graduate students. The President has said he wants to end exemption for all but medical and dental students.

The committee also will recommend investing Congress with power to veto within 60 days any type of lottery-style draft plan Johnson or subsequent presidents might propose.

The Senate, which earlier approved the draft extension, had given lukewarm endorsement to the lottery system as a possible additional means of deciding who should serve.

But it balked at Johnson's proposals for eliminating the nation's 4,100 local draft boards composed of private citizens in favor of regional boards staffed by Civil Service personnel.

The Senate version called for allowing college deferments until a student wins an undergraduate degree or reaches age 24. It also rejected an administrative call for induction of men into the National Guard and Reserve.

The House committee hasn't yet made its feelings known on a Senate-backed section of the measure that would allow youths to enlist in Guard or Reserve units up until the day they were inducted for active service.

Johnson has asked that draft-age men not be deferred by enlistment in such units, unless they filled a specific unit vacancy.

The House panel is expected to go along with Johnson's proposal already approved by the Senate-to give the President authority to call up 19- and 20-year-old men for service before dipping elsewhere into the 18 1/2-26 draft-age bracket.

The House committee's version also will propose establishing national standards to be used by local draft boards in classifying men as available, deferred or exempt.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., author of the proposal, said it's aimed at eliminating local board decisions that allow one man to be drafted while another in similar circumstances is deferred or exempted.

Major portions of the current draft law expire June 30.

Great Society Rent Subsidy Is Defeated

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — House scuttling of rent subsidies underscores the trouble which Johnson administration "Great Society" programs face as a result of heavy Democratic losses in last year's elections.

In the first real test on a controversial domestic issue in the new Congress, the House beat down Wednesday the rent subsidy program, almost stopped the model cities program and curbed the government's power to raise money by selling government-owned mortgages and other securities to private investors.

The rent subsidy and model cities programs were born in the last Congress when Democrats held such an edge over Republicans they could withstand defections of scores of Southern Democrats.

Wednesday's voting showed that no longer can the coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats be ignored on hot domestic issues.

Defeat of the rent subsidies measure generated administration wrath against House Republicans, plus a warning the vote could lead to increased racial tensions and a pledge to carry the fight for the program to the Senate.

Secretary Robert C. Weaver of the Department of Housing and Urban Development said the GOP leadership victimized some 200 low-income Americans by spearheading the attack on rent supplements.

"And this was done by opposing an imaginative program for using to the maximum the private enterprise system they profess to champion," Weaver said of Republicans.

The rent subsidy provision in a $10-billion omnibus money bill sent to the Senate was stricken by a roll-call vote of 232 to 171, with 69 Democrats and 163 Republicans backing elimination and 159 Democrats and 12 Republicans opposing it.

The subsidy program calls for government payments to private landlords to supplement rents paid by eligible low-income families. The program had a total of $32 million during the two years of its life.

President Johnson wanted $40 million for the coming year and the House Appropriations Committee cut this to $10 million. The House vote cut out the $10 million, leaving only $5 million to pay for commitments already made.

The model cities money — already pared from $662 million to $237 million in committee — stayed in the bill by a roll-call vote of 213 to 193, with 52 Democrats and 141 Republicans opposing it and 178 Democrats and 35 Republicans voting to keep it alive.

There were no squabbles over other allotments in the bill, including $6.64 billion for the Veterans Administration and $750 million for urban renewal programs.

WYNNE, Ark. (AP) — Charles W. Northcutt, 59, of Vandalia, was killed Wednesday afternoon in a one-car accident on Arkansas 1.

State Police said the accident occurred about one mile south of Cherry Valley (Cross County). Authorities said Northcutt apparently lost control of his car. Officers said the vehicle traveled 640 feet before landing in a ditch.

Another Deadly Night for Americans

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Marines moved out in search of the North Vietnamese below the demilitarized zone again today after another night of deadly bombardment that killed 11 Americans and wounded 41.

For an hour before dawn Communist guns, mortars and rockets rained more than 300 rounds on Dong Ha, Gio Linh, Camp Carroll and Cam Lo, four of the Marine outposts just below the division between North and South Vietnam.

At dawn Marine companies struck out from the nearby post at Con Thien in a new attempt to hunt down the Red forces they have been battling in the northernmost part of South Vietnam for weeks. There was suspicion that the North Vietnamese were preparing for some dramatic show of force in honor of Ho Chi Minh's 77th birthday Friday, and the Marines were determined to blunt any such attack.

The heavy nightly shelling and hard fighting in the Marine sector was reflected in weekly casualty figures announced today. The U.S. Command said 253 Americans and 1,942 enemy were killed last week. The American toll was slightly less than the 274 killed the week before, a record for the year. The enemy toll, while no record, was slightly more than the 1,903 the previous week.

The heaviest damage in the pre-dawn bombardment came from big 140 mm rockets, one of the heaviest weapons in the Communist arsenal. The Reds unloaded 150 of these rockets on the 3rd Marine Division base at Dong Ha.

Although the daily communique reported only minor damage to the camp, AP Correspondent George Esper, who was injured when he dove for cover during the shelling, said the command post at the center of the camp was burning furiously after the shelling. One shell hit the quarters of Brig. Gen. Ike Ryan, the assistant division commander, but he was elsewhere.

Throughout the shelling, American artillery pieces and mortars continually hurled counter fire at the Red guns dug deep into jungle lairs to the north.

U.S. warplanes were also out in force blasting Red artillery positions in the buffer zone and to the north. Pilots reported destroying or damaging 11 artillery positions and silencing 15 antiaircraft batteries inside the demilitarized zone or just north of it.

B-52s struck at suspected enemy concentrations southwest of coastal Hue and about 40 miles south of the demilitarized zone Wednesday and today. For the seventh day the bombers stayed clear of the border area, possibly because of reports that the North Vietnamese are moving surface-to-air missiles into the sector.

Emphasizing the threat from the 35,000 or more North Vietnamese troops reported menacing the northern area of South Vietnam, U.S. headquarters said almost all of the 137 missions flown against North Vietnam Wednesday were directed against the targets in the southern panhandle just above the demilitarized zone.

An exception was a night attack on a rail yard 103 miles up the Red River from Hanoi.

Funeral services will be held Saturday May 20th, at 11:00 a.m. The church is unknown at this time. Hicks Funeral Home, Inc., is in charge of arrangements.

Rev. J. C. Gardner of Stamps, Arkansas passed away Tuesday night May 16, 1967.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

A NARROW ESCAPE
NEW YORK (AP) — Braulio Baeza, the brilliant Panamanian jockey who earned $2.9 million in purses in 1966, had a narrow escape when the untested colt, What A Pleasure, somersaulted in the Aqueduct walking ring 11 days before the Kentucky Derby. Baeza bailed out just in time. The Wheatley Stable 2-year-old, a promising son of Bold Ruler, was scratched.

Baeza suffered a broken right collarbone at Hialeah last February.

4-Year War Likely in Vietnam

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration gradually is gearing its money operations—including the national debt—for a Vietnam war lasting at least as long as the U.S. involvement in World War II. A request Monday to Congress for a permanent debt ceiling of $365 billion to carry the government through June 30, 1969, was one of several recent moves in that direction.

They also include President Johnson's request for a six per cent income tax surtax, sales of new "freedom share" savings bonds pegged directly to the length of the war and a voluntary program to stem the flow of investment dollars overseas. World War II fighting began for the United States Dec. 7, 1941, and ended with Japan's surrender Aug. 14, 1945.

The U.S. troop buildup in Vietnam reached major scale in mid-1965 and administration fiscal planning now runs through June 30, 1969.

The implication for the national debt was clear in Fowler's appearance Monday before the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I am here to talk about financing a war. It is a costly war and it must be financed in a manner consistent with preserving sound, balanced and fruitful economic growth at home," he said.

In recommending a permanent debt ceiling of $365 billion, Fowler said World War II provided a precedent for large debt limit increases to insure the ceiling "would not be a constraint on necessary wartime finance."

The present temporary ceiling of $336 billion will drop to $285 billion, the current permanent level, on July 1 unless Congress acts. The actual debt as of May 10—the latest date for which a figure is available—was $328.4 billion.

In proposing the surtax, Johnson pegged its length at either two years—which would carry it to June 30, 1969—or as long as the war lasted.

The "freedom shares" went on sale May 1 to persons buying Series E bonds on the payroll savings or bond-a-month plans. They pay 4.74 per cent interest when held to maturity of 4 1/2 years.

Fowler also told the committee the administrative budget deficit for both this fiscal year and next is now estimated at $11 billion—and that assumes Congress approves the surtax.

But Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., suggested a $365-billion ceiling might be insufficient because of uncertainties like the surtax in the administration's projection. Failure of Congress to act on a variety of requests, he said, might add another $12.5 billion to the debt.

Voice of Free

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The million-watt "Voice of Free Asia" will be ready at the end of the year to beam radio programs in Chinese, Laotian, Vietnamese, Malaysian, English, Cambodian and French, a senior Thai official said today.

The U.S. government will install the transmitter as soon as the building is completed at Takli, near a base from which U.S. planes attack targets in Vietnam, said Dr. Wilt Sivarsayanand, deputy director of Thailand's public relations

Fulbright Praised by Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Any one who runs against U.S. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., will be facing a "formidable candidate" who has gained strength in his home state, according to Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said here Sunday.

"I really think he has gained a good deal of strength in the state of Arkansas because he has the nerve, if you want to call it that, or the intestinal fortitude, to disagree with the Administration," Rockefeller said.

"The folks here in Arkansas are proud of our boy who stands up and takes a position, whether it is favorable or unfavorable," he said. "This, I think, has gained him a good deal of strength."

Rockefeller said he didn't necessarily agree with Fulbright, who has been a frequent critic of the Administration's Vietnam War policies.

"If I knew where he was really trying to get us, then I might be better equipped to comment," he said.

Rockefeller made his remarks in an interview with Peter Jennings, anchor man for the American Broadcasting Company's news team. The interview will be shown on Jennings' news program.

War Damage Pay for Schools

MANILA (AP) — Nearly $13.08 million from a fund of American war damage payments to the Philippines will be used to build 6,545 new schools to ease the island nation's critical shortage under an agreement signed today.

Philippine and American negotiators agreed to withdraw the money from the Special Fund of Education created by the U.S. Congress in an amendment to the Philippine war damage legislation of 1962.

Needles Click on the Latest Cardigan Kick

By JUDY LOVE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For years, hand knitters have been clicking their needles to create sweater styles originated by couturieres, college coeds and—believe it or not—military men.

In fact, the one sweater that both men and women keep in their year-round wardrobes was named for a British officer. It's the ever-popular cardigan preferred by the Earl of Cardigan, who led the Charge of the Light Brigade during the Crimean War of 1854.

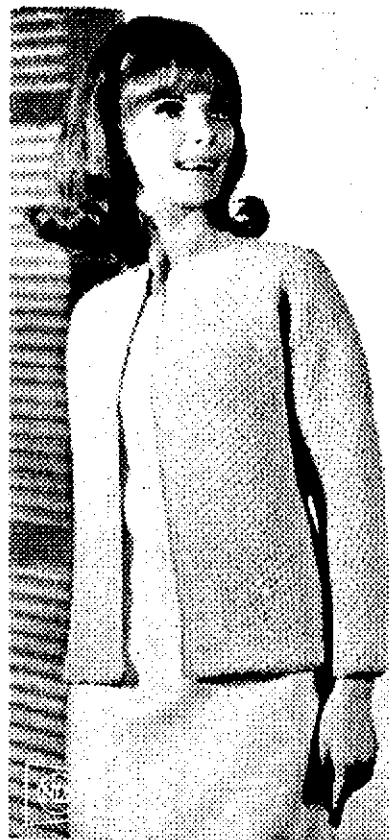

The first people in this country to take notice of the cardigan were miners. During the Klondike gold rush in 1896, gold diggers discovered a new wealth of warmth in cardigan sweater styles.

The easy-to-knit cardigan sweater I'm showing today combines the original military styling with couturiere touches. The top's open-front styling and narrow band of trim are famous fashion trademarks of Coco Chanel.

This sweater's free and easy Dolman sleeves are a second adaptation of military styling. Dolmans, cloaklike jackets with loose sleeves, once were the uniforms of handsome European hussars.

The Dolman cardigan is styled for all seasons and sizes—and it's perfect for cool summer days and evenings. Knit it in any size from 12 to 20 in Coats & Clark's Red Heart knitting worsted. (You girls who enjoy the easy comfort of a good-sized cardigan are really in luck: this style looks smart and trim even in a roomy size 20.) More good news: the yarn is packaged in pull-out skeins to avoid tangles.

START SUMMER in an easy-knit cardigan that's fashion-right through every season. You can knit this versatile sweater-jacket in a lightweight worsted from sizes 12 to 20.

Knit Knocks

Remember when girls spent their time knitting argyles? Today's young Juliets have a new twist with yarn: angora is the rage. Now girls are busy winding yarn around their boy friends' class rings—creating a custom-angora ring that fits their finger and color co-ordinates with their sweater or outfit. When the girls are not winding angora around their rings, many are busy knitting pullovers—still a must with teen-agers.

Constitution Meet O.K. in Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pennsylvanians voted Tuesday to hold a convention to revamp the state's antiquated 93-year-old constitution, a proposal that had failed six times since 1891.

In Philadelphia's primary, Democrats revolted against the party leadership, renominating Mayor James H. J. Tate for a second four-year term by an almost 2-to-1 majority.

The organization had dumped Tate on grounds he was a "sure loser," and endorsed former City Controller Alexander Hemphill who was trounced 152,402 to 80,217. A third candidate, Lenerte Roberts, a Negro real estate broker, trailed with 5,593.

Republican Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, in office four months, gambled the prestige of his administration on constitutional revision.

"It is a great victory," said Shafer. "Constitutional revision is vitally needed."

The convention, with delegates elected in November, will convene in the state's capitol at Harrisburg on Dec. 1. It will have three months to complete the job, but is limited by law from making any change that would allow a graduated income tax. It was this fear — and opponents hammered at this theme — that defeated the convention proposal previously.

Cherry Upside-Down Cake Pleases

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The weeks before graduation call for many parties, informal and formal.

A reader with two teen-aged sons sent us a bright red recipe which she says her children always want when their schoolmates come to the house for a party. We tried it. It's the gooey type favored by active young people. Very, very cherry and very, very good.

CHERRY UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

- 1 cup margarine
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 (1 pound) can sour cherries, drained with 3/4 cup juice reserved for sauce
- 1 cup minus 2 tablespoons sifted flour
- 2 tablespoons corn starch
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 egg, well-beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 tablespoons corn starch
- Reserved cherry juice

Melt 1/4-cup margarine in CHERRY CAKE for teen-age parties.

small saucepan. Add 2 tablespoons sugar; bring to boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Spread in bottom of 1 (8x8x2-inch) baking pan. Cover with drained cherries. Set aside.

Sift flour, 2 tablespoons corn starch, baking powder and salt together. Blend margarine and sugar in mixing bowl. Add egg, blending until smooth. Add vanilla and almond extract. Stir in sifted flour mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour and mixing just until smooth after each addition. Pour into pan over cherries. Spread to cover evenly. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven until cake tests done, about 40 minutes. Cool 15 minutes, then remove from pan.

Mix 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 1/2 tablespoons corn starch in small saucepan. Gradually blend in reserved 3/4-cup cherry juice. Stirring constantly, bring to boil and boil 1 minute. Pour over cake immediately. Serve warm or cool. Six to 8 servings.

Olives Complement Beef on Kabobs

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

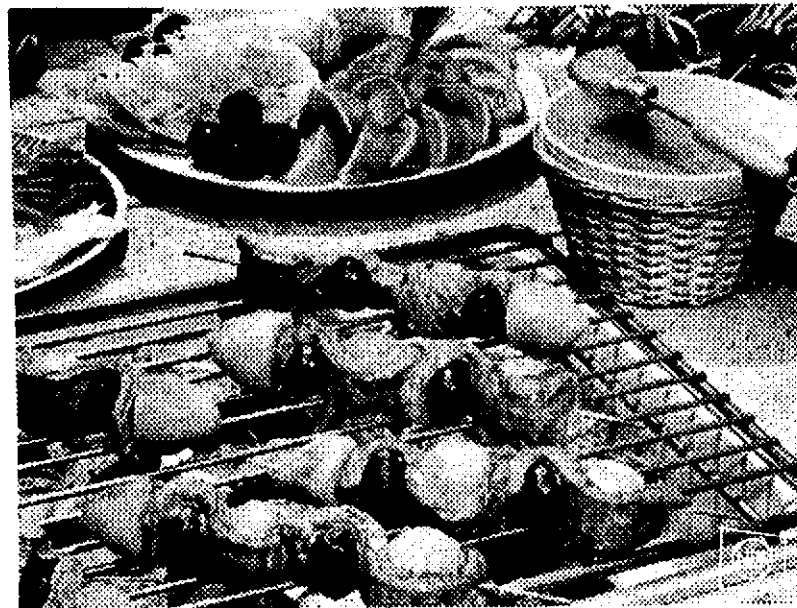

Now that the outdoor chef is taking over, it's a wise wife who keeps him supplied with new recipes. The man in the tall chef's hat, asbestos gloves and flamboyant apron is usually a little vain about his superior skill and welcomes any recipes that will make his next door neighbor envious.

Give him this recipe for kabobs of ripe olives, round steak, onions and yams. It's a good "show-off" recipe.

RIPE OLIVE BEEF KABOBS

- 1 1/2 to 2 pounds top round steak, 1-inch thick
- 20 canned pitted California ripe olives
- 1 (1-pound) can small whole onions
- 1 (1-pound 2-ounce) can small whole yams
- 1/4 cup cooking oil
- 1/4 cup defrosted frozen orange juice concentrate
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon soy sauce
- 1 minced clove garlic
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger

Cut meat across grain into 1/4-inch thick strips. Thread meat onto 10 skewers serpentine fashion, alternating olives and onions in the curves. Cut 5 yams crosswise into halves and place one on end of each skewer. Mash remaining yams and combine with all remaining ingredients; heat to boiling. Broil kabobs to desired degree of doneness, turning and basting several times with yam mixture. Ten kabobs.

Only man to hold the offices of secretary of state and chief justice of the United States was John Marshall.

Have Healthy Hair
If your hair is fine a soft permanent is best. Brands made especially for hard-to-wave hair should be avoided, and if you only want body, milder permanents will usually do the job. If you feel that overbleaching is the cause of frizzy hair it's best to discontinue coloring until the hair is restored to good health. At the same time have as much of the damaged hair trimmed as possible.

Lawyers for Clay Given Wide Powers

HOUSTON (AP) — Lawyers for fighter Cassius Clay held the power today to subpoena information from President Johnson and other high officials for use in Clay's trial on criminal charges of evading the draft.

At a hearing Tuesday, U. S. District Judge Joe Ingraham granted the subpoena motion, made compromise rulings or denied others and took under advisement a plea that the Houston trial be postponed from June 5 to Aug. 1 in order to allow Clay's lawyers to make ready.

In Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused a separate motion to delay the June 5 trial pending settlement of the civil suits Clay has brought against the Selective Service.

Clay, 25, was stripped of his world heavyweight title April 28 when he refused to take the oath. Clay needs money to pay alimony and his lawyers. He was not in the Houston courtroom Tuesday.

Lawyer Hayden Covington of New York told Ingraham that it would be "impossible for us to announce ready until we have all the evidence." U.S. Atty. Morton Susman of Houston opposed the continuance motion and all the others.

The judge granted Clay's lawyers subpoena power against President Johnson; Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service System, and U. S. Rep. L. Mendell Rivers, D-S. C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Covington said that what he sought from those men was copies of statements they have made on the draft. Ingraham ruled they could not be made to grant fresh depositions for use in the trial.

The judge took under advisement a motion to dismiss the indictment against Clay.

WIDER CHRISTIAN VIEW
NEW YORK (AP)—Christianity must "gain new perspectives," the famed Trappist monk, the Rev. Thomas Merton, says. "On this our spiritual and even physical survival may depend."

Analyzing the ways of thought and meditation of Oriental religions in a new book, "Mystics and Zen Masters," published by Farrar, Straus and Giroux, he says: "It is no longer sufficient merely to go back over the Christian and European cultural traditions."

If you think milk is milk, this may surprise you.

Some folks think all milks are alike because all milks must meet certain standards and requirements.

It just isn't so.

The standards which have been set are for your protection but you must decide for yourself which milk is best for your family. With something as important as milk, we think you want the very best for your family, especially your children.

We know that children are the biggest consumers of Borden's Milk. And because we know how important it is to their diets, we're convinced that only the best milk is good enough for them.

This is why Borden's Milk is always better than it has to be! From the dairy farm until it reaches you, Borden's Milk is tested 23 separate times. Tested for flavor. Tested for purity. Tested for quality that far exceeds all regulations.

The Borden Company has been leading the industry in high quality standards for over 100 years. Sometimes this extra care causes Borden's Milk to cost a little more.

But isn't it worth something to know that your children are drinking the best milk you can buy?

IMMOBILE MOBILE HOMES is a development of that industry, according to a recent survey by a major life insurance company, which revealed that 85 per cent of all 12-foot-wide mobile homes move only once—from the factory to the mobile home park. The owner of this trailer, for example, encircled it with stone and added a room and a carport, hardly a pick-up-and-go situation. Mobile home owners, the survey revealed, move an average of once every four years, compared to five for residents of permanent homes according to the survey, made by Northwestern National Life.

1967 Doesn't Look Very Memorable

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is going to be a hard year to remember, unless something happens before the end of it.

The war has been pretty much like last year's war: it has got steadily worse slowly. And Congress has been busy dawdling instead of doing. It's been talking.

President Johnson has been photographed shaking hands, or talking to the press, or walking to a plane. But he has said extraordinarily little for a President in wartime, particularly with the war being criticized so much.

And there hasn't been one truly colorful or distracting character in government or politics.

There has been no one to compare with the attention a Barry Goldwater or a Sen. Joseph McCarthy got, in fervor or hostility. And eye-catchers like President John F. Kennedy or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have been long gone.

True, Sen. Robert Kennedy has kept himself in the public mind on skis, or shooting the rapids or criticizing the war but he has quieted down a bit and polls show his public appeal has diminished.

Two Republican governors, California's Ronald Reagan and Michigan's George Romney have been sashaying around but the attention they've received so far has probably been more curiosity about what makes them tick than anything else.

The days of presidential-congressional uproar went out with President Harry S. Truman. Johnson never did business that way anyway. His technique is head-to-head talks pushing and compromise.

But this year there's little evidence he did much of that or anything with Congress which has been foot-dragging like many Congresses of the past when they didn't have a president on their back every minute.

Unless Congress comes to life in these next few months, this will be a sorry legislative year.

It's even hard to recall the voice of any member of Congress this year except that of Sen. Russell Long, D-La., antagonizing his colleagues in the campaign financing debate—and the screeching of doves and hawks about the war.

This war, routine as it seems on a day-by-day basis, has been practically the whole show and for a number of reasons: those who can't stand the thought of it, or want it calmed down or stepped up or who ignore frustration and demand negotiation.

All of it sounds somber because behind all of it is the deep fear that this limited engagement, unless ended, may burst into a vast Asia war with Red China.

Johnson himself has been an almost baffling figure through it all. Another president might feel it necessary to give the nation repeated pep talks or explanations. But he has pretty well avoided both, staying almost silent.

Yet, this Silent Sam attitude of Johnson's is a very tough one. While saying little, he has steadily built up the American action and participation in the war.

Just because of this, it would seem, the Communist side by this time should, and probably does, realize it is not dealing with a softy in the White House.

If the American people feel frustrated by the slow-paced, limited nature of the war, Johnson must feel like a man wrestling a 10-story building.

He has a war to fight but he has to be cautious for humane reasons, because of the ever-present world opinion, and because he must avoid giving the

Cubans at UN Buying Arms Is Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuban delegates to the United Nations have been buying military equipment from surplus stores in this country, J. Edgar Hoover says.

The FBI director told a congressional committee that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro might use such items as holsters for .45 caliber pistols, combat boots and jungle hammocks to equip pro-Castro guerrilla groups in other Latin-American countries.

He said the Cuban mission at the United Nations is trying to recruit Cuban aliens in the United States "to satisfy intelligence requirements of the Castro regime."

Hoover testified before a House Appropriations subcommittee last Feb. 16 and his testimony was released Tuesday.

The subcommittee is reviewing a proposal fiscal 1968 budget for the FBI totaling $187 million.

Laos Regime on Firmer Ground

By BOB POOS
VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Has political stability been achieved in Laos, the land of the coup and the ambitious general?

An American diplomat pondered this question and finally said: "I would say so, yes, if you consider all that has gone on before."

That may sound like a cautious reply but it is almost wildly optimistic in view of Laos' long-time penchant for switching government.

Another diplomatic source observed: "I'm not saying there aren't people who wouldn't try to overthrow Souvanna—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma—if they thought they had a sound alternative. But the feeling right now is that there simply is no one else of his stature to offer."

Souvanna heads a coalition nationalist-neutralist government. He is a neutralist and his deputy is a right-wing nationalist.

The third faction in Laotian politics, the Pathet Lao, represents Communist interests. It is trying by force to overthrow Laos' constitutional parliamentary monarchy, and is not in the present government at Cabinet level.

Establishment of a tripartite government came about in 1962 when 14 nations signed a pact at Geneva.

Laos would seem to be living proof that such combinations don't work if one of the parties is Communist.

A few months after the Geneva accords, the Pathet Lao, assisted by the North Vietnamese, began trying to render impotent the neutralist forces who composed most of Souvanna's military strength.

Skirmishing and assassinations forced the neutralists into a firmer alliance with the conservatives or nationalists.

By May 1963 all the Pathet Lao ministers had left Vientiane. They haven't been back since.

The three factions held one more meeting — in Communist territory — but without agreement. Open fighting broke out and has been going on ever since.

Vientiane and other Laotian cities were the scenes of several coups or attempted coups. A rightist coup failed in 1965.

Souvanna, first prime minister under the coalition government, was toppled once and again quit in disgust. He kept popping back.

Under Souvanna's leadership and through his efforts to achieve unity the moderate rightists and neutralists have subdued their difference.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

YOU CAN'T HAVE EVERYTHING

Dear Helen: I am a 17-year-old high school junior. For the past six years, I have earned all my spending money and have saved a sizeable amount. My school average is 92, and I have never been in any sort of trouble with the authorities. I've been going with a nice girl with a good reputation. Already I have received offers from a college.

Sounds perfect, right? Wrong! No matter how hard I try, I cannot please my mother. I consider myself fairly respectful, I call her and let her know if plans are changed, and I try to avoid fights, but everytime I come in, she has a sarcastic comment. Unfortunately, I have a big mouth and add fuel to the fire, sometimes. You can't always turn the other cheek, or a deaf ear. Besides this only seems to make her madder.

Every little thing bothers her. If my friends come over, she acts as if it is a big cross. Her ridiculous demands and embarrassing displays drive people away.

My father is good to me but he travels and isn't home enough to help. I know this sounds one-sided, but it's all true.

How can I make my mother more human? — T.D.M.

Dear T: Talk your mother's condition over, man-to-man, with your father, and urge him to consult the family doctor. A physical check-up may uncover the source of her nerves, and a prescription, plus a lot of understanding from her family, could make everyone happier. Possibly she's entering the menopause.

This is sure: your mother is miserable, and she's taking it out on you. Find the cause and you'll be on your way to the cure. — H.

Dear Helen: I waited around for over a month for this certain guy to ask me to the prom. He didn't.

So I decided I'd better ask an old friend from out of town, or else I'd be sitting home. Well you guessed it. The first guy finally came through with an invitation. I'm stalling. Would it be all right if I broke my date with boy No. 2 to accept No. 1's offer? — ONE DATE TOO MANY

Dear ODTM: You know it wouldn't be all right, so don't! A boy who expects to get a last-minute date for the prom is either too reluctant or too sure of himself. He'll know better next time. — H.

Dear Helen: What do you think about drafting women to fight for our country? I'm a teen-age girl that thinks it would be a good idea. My Mom says I'm crazy and so does my boyfriend. He says women toting guns on the front lines would distract the men and gals should stick with the Women's Branches of the Service. — WANTING TO FIGHT

Dear Wanting: I think he's right. When it comes to fighting wars, I'm 100 percent for female inequality. — H.

Dear Helen: I'm 13 and in the seventh grade. There's this fad of making-out which means kissing, necking and so forth. If you won't do this, you're called "green." So the kids think they have to, but I'm smarter than they are. I know that when you're older, like 16 or 17, the boys you let get fresh with you will think of you as that punk kid and dump you. This goes for heavy make-up, smoking and drinking too.

Kids our age that mess around are just proving how immature they are, trying to act old when they're not. The nice girls are green! — SMART AND SENSIBLE

Dear S and S: You tell 'em honey! When early-teens go in for heavy make-up, make-out, and messing around with liquor or cigarette they look about as mature as a six-year-old dressing up in her mother's high heels and mink. But they're playing a much more dangerous game! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble, or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star, Copyright, 1967, Inc.

Joan Crosby's TV Notebook

By JOAN CROSBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Danny Blanchflower is not your average, run-of-the-cliche, noneditorializing sports announcer.

A former star soccer player for the Tottenham Hotspurs, Blanchflower wins sports fans and influences nonsports fans by saying, in his soft Irish brogue, that a player has done a "silly thing," or that an attempt to score a goal while badly positioned was "ridiculous." And not a "How bout that?" in his vocabulary!

A young man of principles who is given to philosophizing over the sport, he is part of the CBS-TV crew bringing soccer into American homes every Sunday. He believes in the game (indeed, the whole world with the exception of the United States believes in the game, possibly the most universally popular sport of all), and he believes in sportsmanship.

... a vital part of anyone's life.

"Sport is a vital part of anyone's life," he says. "It's democratic and healthy and contains all the ideals and principles of life. The action takes place in the open in front of everyone's eyes. You can't succeed because you have an influential uncle. You have to be good. Honor is important. It's important for players that they first honor the game, because if they weren't around, the game would still exist. Then we must honor our own club, and finally ourselves. We honor the other two."

Soccer is a fairly simple game to follow, not hampered by an overabundance of rules. There are subtleties in play which are apparent to an experienced fan, but one who is unexperienced can still enjoy the action, played in two non-stop halves.

"The difficulty of soccer here," Danny says, "is that there is no folklore to the game. But many people obviously feel it will catch on. Otherwise, you would wonder why so many millionaires are putting their money in teams, and why a great broadcasting system is carrying weekly Games."

ANY DAY SHE is not working, she can be seen lunching in a corner of Sardi's. She is such a regular in the restaurant, that she has become "engaged to be engaged" to Peter Gina, Vincent Sardi's nephew.

"I came here originally because it's interesting and I was in show business, and it was convenient to my auditions."

She has stayed to make friends, be seen by people who wondered about the pretty young thing in the corner and find her future happiness. She is Pamela Toll, who will be 19 this month, and who is a veteran of 11 years in show business.

Currently she is playing the role of Dr. Liz Wilson in the NBC-TV daytime series "The Doctors." And she's a bit confused.

"Liz has changed character so many times, she doesn't know who she is. She started as a kook, then became a manic-depressive, then she got normal, then she got a mad crush on her boss. We have been playing it that way for several weeks now, with looks and inflections. Suddenly, the director came to us and said something about a catastrophe. Seems the writer told him we have been all wrong. And now we have to undo those looks. How do you undo two months' work?"

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Who was the first Englishman to be given the title of prime minister?
A—Sir Robert Walpole. He held the post from 1721 to 1742.

Q—For what president did the government authorize the erection of a monument 50 years after his death?
A—In 1911, Congress authorized the erection of a monument to President John Tyler's memory. When the former president died in 1862, the government had taken no official notice of his demise.

Q—What mammal eats nothing for several months during the breeding season?
A—The male fur seal.

Q—Who held Abraham Lincoln's hat during the first inaugural exercises?
A—Stephen A. Douglas, his bitter political opponent.

Q—Why is a spider's web called a "cobweb"?
A—The old Dutch word for spider was "cop," so with a slight change it has become "cob" in English.
